Nearly 8,000 digital resources donated to Astan Quds Razavi Library

ource: Lizna

Nearly 8,000 digital resources were donated to the Astan Quds Razavi Digital Library by individual and legal entities from inside and outside the country durin .140

According to Lizna, Mehdi Karimi, Head of the Digital Resource Organization and Development Department, stated that 70 percent of th donated resources are in Latin and 30 percent are in Persian, Arabic, an Urdu, which include many topics of human knowledge.

He mentioned the donation of resources in various ways, such as the Asta Quds Razavi Digital Library website, in-person visits, email, soci networks, etc.

Karimi clarified: After preparation and technical and content evaluation, these resources have been cataloged by th rganization's metadata experts and entered into the Razavi Digital Library system.

He stated that access to the donated resources of the Astan Quds Razavi Digital Library is subject to the opinion of th uthors of the work or national and international laws, and introduced Dr. Iftikhar Hafiz Ahmad Qadri from Pakista hmad Heydarnejad Shahri, and Saadullah Fathi as some of the donors of resources to the Astan Quds Razavi Digit ibrary.

Karimi referred to the free sharing of three databases for the libraries of Astan Quds Razavi and the digital reading stations o stan Quds Razavi by centers that produce and donate digital resources.

t is worth noting that researchers, donors, and enthusiasts in the field of books and reading can donate digital versions of the esources to the Astan Quds Razavi Digital Library through the Astan Quds Razavi Digital Library portal, email, soci etworks, etc.

hose interested can call 05132219554 for more information on how to donate digital resources